F.A.Q

Behind Driving Adventures Limited

The company is owned and managed by two avid car enthusiasts, Darren Taylor & Graham Collins whose commercial experience has been gained from over 25 years of working within the travel industry specialising in VIP requirements, I.T. and corporate finance.Â

This depth and breadth of knowledge coupled with our years of experience, gives us the tools to run an extremely efficient specialist tour operating business with a keen eye for detail.

In previously catering for the requirements of rock or movie stars, we apply our world renowned specialist services to all our customers.Â

Our position in the industry also enables us to achieve hotel rates at a fraction of the normal cost which we can in turn pass on to you and your clients.Â

What type of people can I expect on the tour?

Our tours are for the majority of driving enthusiasts who relish the opportunity to drive on fantastic scenic roads.Â Whether you own a Ferrari or an original beetle, everyone is welcome.Â

Would your tours be appropriate for couples?

Yes, our tours are made up of 85% couples.

Are the tours formal events?

Not at all. We strive to create a relaxed and social atmosphere throughout the tour and into the evening.Â There are no dress codes.Â

Are there any back up vehicles?

This depends entirely on the tour. If one is included details will be given on the tour description page. We strongly encourage that in all cases you arrange for appropriate independent break down cover (to include Europe where applicable).

What type of accommodation do you arrange?

As you'll appreciate with over 25 years in the travel industry, we have a substantial database of hotels throughout the world to hand pick from depending on the nature of the tour we're organising and what level of accommodation is required.

Are your tours similar to the more well known high profile rallies?

This market is already well catered for elsewhere. Our tours are in no way a competition, rally, trial, event, or race. There are no checkpoints or prizes. An advantage of this is that there is no rush to get from A to B therefore no need to find the quickest (and straightest) route. Our tours aim to explore fantastic roads through stunning scenery.
